1993 ACIS BOOK PRIZES

President Blanche Touhill has announced the following winners of the ACIS Book Prizes for 1993:

The 1993 James S. Donnelly, Sr., Prize for History and the Social Sciences has been awarded to Maryann Gialanella Valiulis' Portrait of a Revolutionary: General Richard Mulcahy and the Founding of the Irish Free State (Irish Academic Press and University of Kentucky Press).

The 1993 Donald Murphy Prize for a Distinguished First Book has been awarded to Heather Bryant Jordan's How the Heart Will Endure: Elizabeth Bowen and the Landscape of War (University of Michigan Press).

The 1993 ACIS Prize of Literary Criticism and Related Fields has been awarded to Bruce Arnold's Mainie Jellet and the Modern Movement in Ireland (Yale University Press).

1994 ACIS BOOK PRIZES

Three ACIS Book Prizes of $500 each will be awarded in 1994 in the following areas: Literary Criticism and Related Fields (literary criticism, literary history, folklore, Irish-language studies, the history or architecture and art, the history of music, the history of ideas, and intellectual history); History and Social Sciences; First Book. The 1994 competition will cover books published anywhere in the world in 1993. There are no other restrictions on eligibility. Nominations may be made by either the author or publisher who must insure that copies of the nominated books are in the hands of each member of the appropriate evaluating committee by the entry deadline of 8 April 1994. Awards will be announced in November of 1994. For further information, contact Blanche Touhill, Chancellor's Office, University of Missouri-St. Louis, St. Louis, MO 63121, USA.

ACIS NATIONAL CONFERENCES

As you know from our October special mailing, the 1994 ACIS national meeting will take place on 27-30 April 1994 at Creighton University. Among the featured speakers will be Edna Longley of Queens University Belfast and Gearoid O Tuathaigh of University College, Galway. Those wishing additional information can contact Eamonn Wall or Kathleen Collins, English Dept., Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska 68178.

In 1995 ACIS/CAIS will hold joint conferences in late June (exact dates are yet to be determined) at Queens University Belfast and hosted by Dr. Brian Walker of the Institute of Irish Studies. Planning for the conference is well underway, but members who have recommendations regarding the academic or social programs or who would like preliminary information are encouraged to write to Dr. Walker at the Institute of Irish Studies, Queen's University Belfast, Belfast, Northern Ireland BT7 1NN.

The Executive Committee welcomes formal proposals to host future national conferences. Interested members who would like preliminary information about what is involved should contact Blanche Touhill.

American Historical Association Meeting

The ACIS will be represented at next year's AHA meeting in San Francisco with a panel presented under the affiliated societies program on 8 January from 9:30-11:30 a.m. in the Powell Room A at the Hilton Hotel. The session is entitled Religion, Gender, and 19th-Century Irish Women in Ireland and the United States. It will be chaired by Cliona Murphy, and will include papers by Mary Peckham, and Maureen Fitzgerald. On Friday, 7 January, Cliona Murphy will host an ACIS cocktail party in her room at the Hilton Park Hotel from 6 to 8 p.m.

Modern Language Association Meeting

The ACIS will have two sessions at this year's MLA, 27-30 December 1993, in Toronto. The first will be on 29 December from 12:00-1:15 p.m., in the Windsor Room, Sheraton Centre of Toronto. It is entitled Continuities and Breaks in Irish Culture. Lucy McDiarmid will chair the session, and Patrick Sheeran, James Holstun, and Guinn Batten will present papers. A second session will take place on 30 December from 3:30-4:45 p.m., in the Conference Room F, Sheraton Centre of Toronto. It is entitled Literature and Ideology in Irish Writing. Dillon Johnston will chair, and Rachel Jennings, Philip O'Leary, and Eamon Grennan will present papers. Additionally, on 29 December from 9:00-10:15 p.m. in the Norfolk Room, Sheraton Centre of Toronto, there will be a panel entitled Intertextuality in Modern Irish Literature. It will be chaired by Coilin Owens, and Lucy McDiarmid, Anthony Bradley, Patrick McCarthy, and Kieran Quinlan will present papers. A joint ACIS/James Joyce Foundation cocktail party will be held on 28 December from 8-10 p.m. in Murray Beja's room in the Delta Chelsea Inn.

Canadian Association for Irish Studies Meeting

The CAIS 1994 annual conference will be held 11-14 May 1994 at the Erindale Campus of the University of Toronto. Its theme will be Ireland: the Haunted Ark and featured speakers will include Evan Boland, Ciaran Carson, Anne Tannahil, Tim Robinson, Nuala O'Faolain, Michael Cronin, Mairin Nic Donnachadha, Seamus Smyth, Mary Daly, Patrick Corish, Angela Bourke, Seamus Deane, Michael D. In Remembrance

We report with sadness the recent death of noted historian Dennis Clark in Philadelphia on Friday, September 17th. ACIS members will remember Professor Clark for his activities within the organization, most specifically for his 1992 keynote speech at the ACIS national conference last April at Villanova University (reprinted in the Fall 1992 issue of the Irish Literary Supplement). Professor Clark received his PhD from Temple University, and he taught at Temple University, Villanova University, and other schools before his retirement several years ago. He wrote eleven books, six on the Irish in America. The Philadelphia Inquirer called him "an old-time Irish egghead activist," and Professor Clark's strong record of commitment to social justice balances an equally admirable history of intellectual achievement. He will be greatly missed by all who share his interest in Irish Studies.
